

LACT - World Awareness Group

With the excitement of the World Cup, we have been thinking about equality and equitability, and the difference between the two.

We used atlases to locate the different countries playing in the World Cup.

Is it fair that some people in the world get paid less than others for doing the same jobs?

Many of the people who receive a lower salary, live in a developing country.

What rule would you use to make the game fair?

You could:

- Play a shorter game
  - Give training
- Mix the teams up

You want to have a football game but some of the players are 11 years old and others are aged 16.

You meet some young people from another country who have never played football before, but you want to play them at football

For our snack, we enjoyed Fairtrade bananas.
